

On the road to success

Continuing its support for local schoolgirl Kasia Nicklin, Cecil and Larter Saab arranged for the young racing kart driver to face her toughest challenge to date – in the form of local sports journalist Stuart Watson of the East Anglian Daily Times.

Following her early success in this, her first year competing at a national level, the 'MSA Series' British Championship and her impressive performances at club level, Kasia was eager to drive herself still further by challenging Stuart to a five-lap race at the Anglia Indoor Karting Centre.

With the forthcoming British Grand Prix firmly set in their minds, the two racing rivals went back to where it all started for Kasia three years ago, taking to the track in a true test of skill and concentration. Both drivers steered a clean course around the track but Kasia's dedication to her sport was rewarded as she swiftly achieved a lead against her opponent. Despite a valiant attempt to overtake her, Stuart was unable to close the gap on Kasia as she sped towards a comfortable victory.

Haydon Wilding, Sales Manager of Cecil and Larter Saab, said: "Whilst this race was organised in the name of good fun and sportsmanship, it also was a great opportunity for us to showcase Kasia's talent, and to demonstrate how devoted she is to pursuing her dream of becoming the British champion within the next two years. We are delighted to offer support and funding to Kasia as she continues on the road to success." The event was kindly hosted by Anglia Indoor Kart Racing Ltd, Farthing Road, Ipswich. They have seen several youngsters who have shown good driving potential, but agree that Kasia is a determined young prospect and is a name to watch in the future. ## Swedish support for Peterborough parade

Crichtons' of Peterborough brought a touch of Swedish style to the 2007 Peterborough Mayor's Parade, offering a helping hand to ten local schools in the process.

In his capacity as Chairman of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, Iain Crichton, Dealer Principal of Crichtons' of Peterborough, encouraged ten East Anglian transport companies to supply lorries for ten local schools to transform into floats during the parade.

In addition, Iain encouraged local businesses to sponsor the schools, allowing the pupils to fund the design and decoration of their parade floats.

Spectators at this year's parade were also amongst the first in the UK to catch a glimpse of models from the new Saab 9-3 BioPower range, as Crichtons' of Peterborough supplied event organisers with four Saab 9-3 BioPower Convertibles to transport local dignitaries along the parade route.

Iain said: "We were delighted to be involved with this year's Peterborough Mayor's Parade and we hope that the schoolchildren supported by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce enjoyed participating in this prestigious event.

"The parade clearly demonstrated the true sense of community spirit shared by the people of Peterborough and, as the city strives to become the 'environment capital' of the UK, we were proud that our Saab BioPower cars featured so prominently."
